

James Abrams is a leading alternative energy business leader, innovator and investor. He is the CEO and Founder of EthosGen, Principal in InnaVenture and serves as a partner in Vitrius Technologies and United Glass. Mr. Abrams has lead energy development projects both nationally and internationally. He is a featured lecturer at various industry forums and universities about sustainability and social entrepreneurship. Mr. Abrams is a board member of King's College McGowan School of and Power the World Foundation. Mr. Abrams received dual degree from King's College and resides in Dallas, Pennsylvania.